

Testimony – Marcos Chu

Growing up in Brazil, I would “attend” a Chinese Church and go to Sunday school. I would be the kid that would eat the snack before the Sunday school teacher would say prayer. Moving to the United States at age of 14, I did not attend Church or think much about it until I was a co-op at an Aerospace Company in Rockford, IL, at my last work session on the last day of work. My engineer lead took me and another Intern for lunch and as I was packing my stuff and leaving, my lead gave me a Bible sponsored by the Promise Keepers. I never read the copy he has given me, but I always kept it with me as I have changed jobs and cities many, many times. I had many encounters with Christians who shared their faith before I accepted Jesus as my Lord and Savior including my brother, but it was not until I was working here at Boeing on assignment in China Lake that I was saved. Pastor Marcos in Ridgecrest, CA said there is no such thing as coincidences and I was anointed there just before I was going back to St. Louis.

In 2006 December, I attended Urbana 2006 event sponsored by Intervarsity and I feel God has placed in my heart to be a missionary in the Marketplace. One day sitting at my desk at lunchtime, I was thinking if there were other Christians at work, for some reason I was wondering if would be ok if I typed the word “Christian” to do a search on the network.... I think I debated about this in my mind for a good 5 minutes until I took enough courage and did the search !!!! Ever since discovering about CUBE (Christians Uplifting Boeing Employees) located in Huntsville, AL, I have felt that I should not be ashamed of being a Christian at work.

As a baby Christian I am excited to be on this journey!

[Marcos Chu coordinates a WTPG (Working Together Prayer Group) in St. Louis, MO). For more information: <http://www-hsv-02.se.nos.boeing.com/empprgms/cube/CUBE-Prayer.htm>]